Our Original Menu
An Answer For Current Times

When my grandparents, Alejandro and Rosa Borquez, opened El Cholo in 1923, their goal was simple: serve great food with love, and create a place where people wanted to gather.

In those early days, the menu focused on a handful of dishes done exceptionally well—enchiladas, tacos, tamales, chile rellenos, and fresh tortillas made daily.

Today's economy is hurting everyone. By going back to the simplicity of our original menu, plus some of our current favorites, we've been able to save on costs and lower our pricing so you can dine with us on a regular basis while helping provide a livelihood for our staff as well.

Thank you for allowing our family to serve yours for more than a century. Your continued support means we can keep doing what we love—serving our communities and providing opportunities for the dedicated team members who are part of the El Cholo family.
